

Joyful Greetings, Music Lovers!

Ella Fitzgerald once said, "The only thing better than singing is more singing."

In keeping with her advice, The Noteables are tuning up for our 2023-2024 choral concerts, music guaranteed to touch your hearts and lift your spirits. First up is our Christmas performance called "The Winter Gift" followed by our spring concert "Make Space For Life To Live."

Our all volunteer, non-audition female chorus has been delighting audiences in Chaffee County with versatile choral music performances for 40 years.

Given the strength of quality and the reputation of The Noteables, people are often surprised to learn that our chorus is a 501c3 nonprofit organization. The director and every member of our group contribute their talents entirely out of personal passion and the knowledge that music is healing for audiences as well as singers.

However, as you know, even nonprofit organizations need a financial foundation with which to pay for the ordinary expenses of music, rehearsal and performance spaces, sound engineering, publicity and programs. For many years, these expenses have been entirely funded by dues and donations at the door, but as costs rise, those dollars are not enough.

For this reason, we would like to offer you the opportunity to help The Noteables continue to sing and provide exceptional entertainment. In this way you, our loyal supporters, become a much appreciated part of our choir, harmonizing with us to spread the joy of music.

We know that you receive many requests for donations, but The Noteables hope you will include us in your annual giving. A tax deductible contribution of any amount is welcomed and will help us to continue our mission of bringing people together through the power of singing. Note that we plan to list the names of all our donors without amounts in our concert programs. If you wish to remain anonymous, please inform us.

Make your check out to The Noteables, and mail your contribution to:

Accept our warmest thanks in advance for your past and present support of The Noteables.
